Samuel Mueller, our first ancestor in America, came from the Canton of Berne, Switzerland, emigrated to America in the ship Chance. Charles Smith Captain from Rotterdam, last from Cowes, with one hundred and ninety-three passengers, landing at Philadelphia, Nov. 1, 1763.

When his family arrived in the new world, they were extremely poor. They founded their first place of abode in some adjacent district of Germantown, Pennsylvania. How long they remained here is not known. We however, learn that they later established themselves in Kishacoquillas valley, Mifflin Co., Pennsylvania. There he procured employment on the Pennsylvania Canal as a teamster on the tow path.

During the Revolutionary War, the husband was seized from his services on the canal by a group of soldiers. Whether he was persuaded to participate in the Continental Army or held as a prisoner by the British is not known.

After the close of the war he returned to his home, found that his home had been vacated. Inquiring of the neighbors he learned that his wife had died. This sorely grieved him and he wept bitterly.

While the mother lay on her death bed, father away from home, she became concerned about her five small children. Looking about her and seeing the quiet, loving and peaceable Amish Mennonite people around her, it became her earnest desire that her children be reared in Amish Mennonite homes. The father, sorrow stricken, remained only a short time in the community. Later he was married again but nothing of his whereabouts was ever learned by any of his children in after years.

Christian, the eldest son, was received into the home of Hans Beiler, a pioneer Bishop of Mifflin County Pennsylvania. Hans Beiler, being a blacksmith by trade, Christian, an industrious lad, aspired to the trade, in which he became quite proficient as a Welder of Iron and won for himself considerable popularity and became known as (Smith Miller)

After he attained the age of twenty-one he started to peddle notions for a livelihood, and traveled westward across the Allegheny Mountains until he reached Sommerset County, Penn., where he purchased a tract of land from the Shawnee Indians, consisting of between four and five hundred acres. Here he married a young girl by the name of Berkly, and proceeded to erect a cabin in the forests of Conemaugh Township. And, as said, there were but four white families in the Township at that time, as we can imagine their first dwelling was not an elaborate structure, but a rude cabin closed by hanging a blanket over the doorway.

During the first summer in this typical dwelling was laid the foundation for a new home, a place where his ten children were born and grew to young manhood and womanhood, a place where he died in the year 1845, and where he and his wives are buried in the family burial ground on the farm on a hill close by.

Here Christian Miller erected a blacksmith shop and farmers came for miles to have (Smith Miller) repair and build implements. Several days were required in covering the distance to and from the mill.

The wife, at home, had to take a path through the woods for miles to bring the cows home from pasture, and heard the howling of the wolf, also met Indians in search of game.

Christian Miller was the first pioneer minister and Bishop in the Amish Mennonite church in Conemaugh Township, in Somerset County, Pennsylvania. He had six sons and four daughters. Christian married as his second wife, Fanny Miller, who died in 1847, at the age of eighty four years.

Two brothers, John, known as broad run John, married Cathrine Yoder, Isaac married Mrs. Lena Honerich Christner. Both lived in Holmes and Tuscarawas County, Ohio. Two sisters, Barbara and Rachel.

Children of Samuel Mueller, our first ancestor, who came to America, Nov. 1, 1763:

Christian (Schmith) Miller.
John Miller (known as broad run John)
Barbara Miller.
Rachel Miller.
Isaac Miller.

The Flour and Crist Mill on Doughty Creek, which was known formerly as Wises Mills, was built by a Mr. Myers many years ago, and was later owned by Peter Wise and Jefferson Varnes, Pete Weidner was their Miller. The Mill was operated by water power and steam power was used in dry weather. The machinery in the mill was a 4 foot Buhr for grinding feed and a four foot Buhr and one Reel for grinding and bolting the flour.

In 1882 the writer of this work, his father, J. J. Miller, traded his farm of 93 acres, 1 mile north of Charm, O., on the Mill, then operated it for several years with the aid of William Loudenslager as Miller, when he remodeled it to a more modern system and a year or so later he put in the Roller System and had Simon Syler, an old Miller, to help run it for part of a year. After that father was the Miller. The writer put in his time here from the age of 10 years till after marriage. We often had to keep the mill running day and night to grind flour for the surrounding community. In the year 1912 the mill burned to the ground in August and was built up again at Charm, O., by D. J. Mast and is operated at this time by Day Troyer.

Years before we owned the old mill, Jeremiah Miller, head of this history and his brother-in-law, Shem Miller, took a contract to build a stone dam for this mill. Twice they had it partly built up when a flood came and washed it away again. So they finally gave it up, and the frame dam was kept up until the mill burned. All the water powers along Doughty Creek, I think have been abandoned, and no one is living in Troyer hollow any more. Here was done a flourishing business at one time by S. D. Troyer Woolen Mills much fine plain goods was made.
